The short answer is, not at the moment.

We will however need someone in the future, so if you fit the profile below send us an email with your resume and we will give you a call for an interview if you are suitable.

We are looking for:

Someone with strong customer service skills.
Experience handling money
Lives eats and breaths games, especially Xbox.
Has an interest in web design or has done some website work.

Its not all about playing Xbox all day, although sometimes you just have to show them how to play the game :)
